Kaspersky was banned

In this episode of the DarkBox Archive, Andrew and Josh discuss the US government's ban on Kaspersky cybersecurity products. They cover the reasons behind the ban, including concerns about potential exploitation by Russian intelligence agencies, and its implications for users and businesses. For more information, visit darkboxsecurity.com and join their Discord community.